It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, independent of sect or party, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morality. Appreciating the necessity for a Superior Newspaper in this part of Kentucky, we will bend every energy to make the SHELBY SENTINEL acceptable to all classes. To those who have a distaste for partisan strife, our paper will be a welcome guest. In the angry meetings of discord will be healed in the endeavor to heal the frightful wounds, which years of war have caused. To sustain our paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby. While the local interests of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State.

The general interests and welfare of the country can in no better way be advanced than through the medium of a newspaper. Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we will freely and independently discuss them. To prevent any misapprehension as to the position which the SHELBY SENTINEL will occupy, we will state that our approval and support will be given to a mild and conciliatory policy, condemning all radical, revolutionary or unjust measures. Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country and that these views are such as the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse, we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in the opinion that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

For the Shelby Sentinel.

I CAN SMILE NO MORE.

(Written on being asked by a lady why I was not more cheerful.)
Oh, ask me not to smile again,
My heart is breaking now,
Then why should I recall a smile
To linger on my brow?
My hopes are buried in the dust,
My earthly joys are o'er;
There's naught to make me happy now,
And I can smile no more.

The friends that smiled upon my way,
In boyhood's joyous hours,
Have all departed, one by one,
Like withered autumn flowers;
And those I loved—ah! where are they?
They come not as before
To win me back to hope and joy;
And I can smile no more.

The birds that sang their glad strains,
On every leafy bough;
The flowers that bloomed so sweet and fair,
I cannot see them now.
The stars that shone with cheering ray,
Have lost the smiles they wore;
Their beams are quenched in hopeless night,
And I can smile no more.

Then ask me not to smile again,
Nor bid me to be gay,
Nor ask me, when my heart is sad,
To sing a cheerful lay.
Oh, let me weep! No more for me
Shall bloom the hopes of yore;
My heart is like a blighted flower,
And I can smile no more.

Capital Story.

BURIED ALIVE

Is it true that sometimes "coming events cast their shadows before?" Is it true that at times the mighty unknown future vaguely impresses itself upon the present? I think so.
If not, how do we get that presence of good or evil that so strongly elevates with hope or depresses with fear?
That throws over our spirits the serenity of a placid lake, or the wild agitation of a stormy sea?

From my earliest recollection I had always been afraid of being buried alive. I do not remember that the fear of death had ever troubled me—only the fear of entering the grave while yet a living man,
and becoming conscious of it when too late.
Of all the horrors which the mind can con-jure up, this, to me, always seemed the most dreadful, and the fear of it fastened itself upon me with all the power of a haunting specter; and it became one of the deep concerns of my life to guard against it.
At twenty-two years of age I ordered my coffin and purchased my tomb. The coffin was so constructed that a living person could throw it up in it could touch certain springs and throw it all apart; and the tomb was constructed with proper ventilation, and provided with blankets and key inside, so that in case of life returning after burial, I could secure myself against a deadly chill and speedily find my way out.

Why had I this fear to lead me to these precautions, unless the coming reality had cast its shadow upon me? My monomania, as many termed it, was known to all my friends, every one of whom had been separately charged to see me positively dead before burial. But what are precautions taken against fear? I was doomed to be buried alive after all.

At the time I speak of, I was twenty-seven years of age, and living in my native place—an inland city. Urgent business called me to Boston where I had only one acquaintance, a very dear friend, who often invited me to come and make him a long visit. Unfortunately, he was out of town, and expected to be absent several days;
but his family insisted upon my making their house my home during my stay in the city, and would not in fact, permit me to go elsewhere. On the third day I had finished my business, and as it was the last of the week, I decided to remain two or three days longer, and I should perhaps get a sight of my friend before leaving.

On the following morning I was found dead in my bed—at least it was so reported, and the strongest evidence I have against it is the fact, that I am living now.
The people of the house, of course, were much excited and alarmed—their physician was called in, and afterward the coroner.
It was at length decided to put me in a coffin, and place me in a church vault until the return of my friend, who would, of course, have my body conveyed to my native place for interment.

Thus it is seen that all my precaution availed me nothing, for abroad, almost among strangers, I had taken on the semblance of death, and had been confined and entombed in the ordinary way.

I returned to consciousness in the night, in the vault of the church. Of course, I knew not where I was. My first impression was one of strange pressure and confinement; I fancied, as in a dream, that I had been seized for a maniac, a strait-jacket put upon me and then forced into a narrow cell. This idea did not long hold its place.
As my mind grew clearer, I began to recall what had happened the past week—
leaving home going to Boston, transacting my business, and so on. I remembered being at my friend's house, and of deciding to remain longer than I first intended,
hoping for his return before my departure.
All this gradually became clear, along with the last pleasant evening I had spent with his family. But then came a blank.

What happened since? And where was I now? I attempted to rise, and found my self shut up in some narrow place that scarcely allowed any movement whatever.
How did I get there? What did it mean?

Suddenly my life-long fear returned upon me with a new terror that no language can express. Perhaps the dread horror had come, and I had been buried alive at last! The thought was so appalling, that for some moments I remained paralyzed. Then I seemed gathered

PREMIUMS! PREMIUMS!

RICH AND RARE!

To increase the circulation of the Sentinel and at the same time reward those who aid us in this most worthy object, we offer a list of premiums which will be given without fail to the persons most successful in obtaining subscribers. Competition for these premiums is not confined to this county alone, but open to every reader of the Sentinel. Those who wish to compete for these premiums, can send the names of subscribers as fast as obtained and an accurate account will be kept of the same. Subscribers may be obtained for different post-offices.

1st. A large Family Bible—price, $12. This is one of Potter's Photograph Bibles. It contains, besides the Old and New Testament, the Apocrypha, Family Record, and a place for photographs, making it the most complete Family Bible ever offered to the public. This Bible can be seen at P. & S. H. Ellingwood's Drug and Jewelry Store. 2nd. A splendid Portrait of General R. E. Lee or Stonewall Jackson, or any other picture in the establishment valued at $5.50. The successful person can have choice of either of the pictures. They are on exhibition at B. B. Ross' Book and Drug Store. 3d. A fine gold headed cane. For a gentleman this will be a nice present. It can be seen at Hastings & Hollenbach's. 4th. The poetical works of Mrs. Hemans, Coleridge, and Campbell, 3 vols., in blue and gold. Value $4.50, at P. & S. H. Ellingwood's. 5th. This Premium is for our young friends and will be a nice juvenile book, worth $2, from B. B. Ross' Book Store.

For the first premium offered herein, the list must not be under 50 names, and the award will be made the first of October. For the second, third and fourth premiums, the list must not be under twenty-five subscribers. Every citizen of Shelby county should be a subscriber to the Sentinel. This is our offer, and we will just add that it is a way in which a good work can be performed with good pay attached. We are constantly receiving names here and there, from this and adjoining counties. Some enterprising person can easily obtain the requisite number, and thus have an evidence of the Sentinel's liberality. We will send specimens of paper and circulars upon application. Let it be known, also, that the the Sentinel will be enlarged as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained. Subscribers obtained for these premiums will be at the regular rate of subscription—the money accompanying each name.

That persons not successful in getting large lists of subscribers may be rewarded for their trouble, we add to our lists two premiums, which we will give in addition to those already offered. The Orpheus C. Kerr Papers, Third Series. Enquire within, or 3790 Facts for the people. These are both very popular books; the list must not be less than ten names.

The Shelby Fair.

We predicted that the Shelby Fair would prove successful, but we did not anticipate such a wonderful multitude as last week's exhibition brought out. Shelby was all there, while Henry, Spencer, Oldham, Jefferson, Anderson, Franklin, Woodford, Fayette, Scott, and other counties in and out of the State, were well represented. We do not wish to risk a statement of the number in attendance each day, but will just observe that good judges have put the average number at six thousand.

The receipts of the Fair far exceed any previous year, and places the Shelby Agricultural and Mechanical Association in a very flourishing financial condition. The stock shown this year was remarkably good, and the premiums were awarded with impartial justice; and, as a general thing, gave satisfaction to all parties. We are happy to say that the Fair was characterized by no scenes of violence or rudeness, such as would almost naturally pertain to such large masses of people gathered from all directions and from all classes. That there were those in attendance who disregarded the authority of the directors, by indulging in promiscuous betting, was very evident, and this will doubtless continue to be the case as long as Fairs are attended by those whose nature retains the wickedness transmitted from Adam.

THE HOME MONTHLY.—The September number of this excellent periodical is well filled with choice articles, both original and selected. To our lady friends who wish a good magazine, free from trashy literature, we can conscientiously commend The Home Monthly, edited by Prof. A. B. Stark, and Rev. Felix K. Hill, Nashville, Tenn.

Local Items.

Persons who lost articles at the Fair grounds during the Fair, are informed that they can be obtained by calling at the store of L. W. & R. A. Smith.

FARE REDUCED.—We are requested by Robertson, Thomas & Co., to say that they have reduced the fare to all points on L. F. and L. R. R. Through Tickets for sale, at Armstrong's Hotel.

The Shelby Railroad ordinance was defeated at the special election last Monday, in Louisville. The result needs no comment, as the vote given is a sufficient comment upon the want of enterprise of the city.

The Administratrix Sale at the late residence of David L. Phillips, Sept 12th, affords buyers a chance to get some good stock, produce, &c. The farm will also be rented on day of sale.

ROBERTSON THOMAS & Co.'s Accommodation line will leave Shelbyville every morning at 6 o'clock. Returning, will leave Louisville at 2 o'clock P. M. Shelbyville office at Armstrong's Hotel. Louisville, at Jeffersonville R. R. office.

The Editors' wife, was the recipient of some most delicious grapes, a present from Miss Mary Middleton, for which she returns many thanks. The printers in the Sentinel Office were also kindly treated to a bountiful supply of grapes from Mrs. Middleton, for which they are grateful.

Mr. John F. Moore, of this county, has sold his fine stallion, Glencoe, to Mr. J. W. Huss, of Shelby, for $1000. Glencoe took the premium in the thoroughbred ring at the late Shelby Fair. Mr. Moore also sold his noted Jack, Castilian, to Mr. D. D. Wilson, of Anderson, for $2000.

The schools of Shelbyville, after several weeks vacation, are now in operation, offering those educational advantages for which our town is so justly noted. With instructors of skill and experience, unexcelled facilities are offered for the acquirement of thorough education, and to those seeking competent instruction, in any or all branches of learning, we would commend the schools, colleges and academies of Shelbyville.

We are requested by Messrs. Beckley & Neal to give notice that they are running daily four-horse coaches, leaving Shelbyville every morning at 6 o'clock, A. M., arriving at Louisville at 11 o'clock A. M.; leaving Louisville every day at 2 o'clock P. M., arriving at Shelbyville at 7 P. M., and have reduced the fare to $1. Their office has been removed from the Jeffersonville Railroad office to the New Albany Railroad office, corner of 3d and Main Sts., Louisville.

The following persons took the oath of office Monday, September 2d, and entered upon their respective duties, viz: J. L. Caldwell, Judge of Shelby County Court; Erasmus Frazier, County Attorney; John T. Ballard, Clerk County Court; C. M. Stratton, Jailor Shelby County; P. B. Doak, Surveyor for Shelby County; Chas. J. Morton, Assessor for Shelby County; W. W. Parker, Justice of the Peace of Shelby County; Culvin Sanders, Justice of the Peace of Shelby County; M. T. Carpenter, Police Judge of Town of Shelbyville.

"Dr. Valentine, Jr., Ventriloquist, Wonder Worker and Hercules." Dr. C. A. Jocelyn, proprietor of "Youruka!" the greatest medical invention of the age.

Our exchanges at Danville and other towns in the State where Fairs are yet to be held, are warned of an individual who claims the above appellations. This young man of such remarkable powers, backed by an endless tongue and a brassy face, but no money, ordered the printing of a large number of hand-bills at this office, and had an advertisement inserted in our last issue, both of which he neglected to pay for. If this Hercules would work such a wonder as the payment of his bills at this office, we might indeed exclaim Eureka. We don't charge the doctor anything for this notice, but would caution printers, hotel keepers, and others, to look out for Hercules, and his wonder working "Eureka."

DISTINGUISHED CHARACTERS.—The Illustrated Phenological Journal for September contains portraits, with descriptions, of Count Bismark, of Prussia; Archduke Albert, of Austria; Queen Emma, of the Sandwich Islands; Joseph Sturge, of England; Horace Vernet, of France; F. N. Gisborn, of Newfoundland; Cyrus W. Field, of New York; and a group of native Africans, with articles on Anthropology, Physiology, Psychology, Pneumatology and Physiognomy; Characters in Shakespeare, Hamlet, Casius, etc. Beaming Eyes, Impressions, Large Noses, Prenatal Influences, Sins of Society, Whom to Elect, Questions for debating Societies, Phenology, by John Neal; "Out of Place, by Mrs. Wyllis; Truth and Error, "Quack Medicines," Fagging and Flogging, Female Suffrage, Foreign Aids, etc. A rich number. 20 cents, or $2 a year. Fowler & Wells, N. Y.

News Summary.

SALE.—Mrs. Bailey's farm in Woodford sold a few days ago for $95 per acre. We regret to hear that Hon. D. W. Voorhees is lying dangerously ill at his residence in Terra Haute, Ind.

The Empress has exerted her influence in favor of humanity and the best interests of the people of Venetia and Italy.

General Fisk has given a farewell address at Nashville, and was the recipient of a valuable service of plate.

The Duke of Darmstadt is obstreperous and refuses the cession of his possession of his territories to Prussia.

Queen Emma, of Sandwich Islands, started for home on Saturday, via Aspinwall and San Francisco.

Dean Richmond, for the last twenty years President of the New York Central Railroad, and President of the Democratic State Central Committee of New York, died a few days since.

The threatened raid into Canada by the Fenians has received notice on the part of the British Government, which is taking active precautionary measures. Three batteries of artillery have lately been sent to Quebec.

The Emperor Napoleon, in a letter to King Victor Emmanuel on the 11th of August, rejoices that the era of peace has returned. He says he accepted the cession of Venetia from Austria "in order that the people of that country might be enabled to choose their own destiny."

The famine in India is increasing and starving wretches have begun to flock from country to the city. "Hundreds of men," says a Bengal circular, "are daily coming down to Calcutta from the famine-stricken districts, of whom some get their food once in a day, and some do not. Many pass their days eating skins of mangoes picked up in the streets; many sell their children for an anna or two, or devote themselves to pocket-picking and murder."

The Oswego (N. Y.) Times reports the brutal whipping of a lad about twelve years of age by his father, a man named Euphrates Lake, of that city. Lake is a seventh-day Baptist, and whipped his son in a shocking manner because he did not want to work on Sunday, when told to do so by his father. It is said that a short time ago the same man turned out of doors his daughter, fifteen years old, because she would not work on Sunday.

"Perley," in his dispatch from Philadelphia to the Boston Journal, speaking of the visit paid by delegates from South Carolina to the Massachusetts delegation, says:

"Then General Custer came in, and was introduced to General McGowan, of the Confederate army. After cordially shaking hands, Custer said: 'General, we have been looking at each other often during the war through field-glasses and amid the smoke of battle. If we can now shake hands, these civilians, who have stayed at their homes in safety, surely should.'"

New life has been imparted to business operations by the prospect now afforded by the proceedings of the National Union convention, and the President's proclamation of sincere confidence in the future prospects of the country, under conservative counsels, will invigorate industry and enterprise. Commerce between the South and the North will be restored to its former activity, and its field of operations will be enlarged. The product of cereals in the West and of cotton in the South promises well for active business the coming autumn. The heavy stock of goods now on the hands of importers and manufacturers will be in demand for Southern and Western consumption, and probably at lowest prices.

THREE MONTHS FOR NOTHING.—A VALUABLE OFFER.—The enterprising Publishers of the American Agriculturist offer that valuable journal free for the remaining three months of this year to all new subscribers for 1867 (Vol. 26), who send in their subscription during this month of September. The cost of the Agriculturist is only $1.50 a year, or four copies for $5, so that $1.50 (or $1.25 for each of four persons, will just now secure the paper for fifteen months! We advise everybody to embrace this opportunity. The Agriculturist is a marvel of value and cheapness, and in no other way can one so well invest $1.50 or $1.25. The paper is adapted to all classes of readers in city, village and country. Its Household and Children's Departments are exceedingly valuable and interesting everywhere. Each number contains 32 large double size magazine pages, filled with original, instructive and interesting matter. It is splendidly illustrated with many large, first-class Engravings, which are both pleasing and instructive, and alone worth far more than the cost of the paper. The Agriculturist is diligent and unsparing in its exposures of all kinds of swindling and humbugs, and in this way alone saves the country hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. Take our advice, and send your subscription at once to the publishers, Orange Judd & Co., 41 Park Row, New York City.

Miscellaneous.

The Cholera.

Innumerable receipts are published for the cure of this dreadful scourge which is now afflicting our land. Below we publish a letter from Dr. Boone, giving his method of treatment. This letter was sent from Chicago to a gentleman in this county. Success is said to have been invariable when the directions published below were followed:

"My cholera drops are 5 grains of calomel, one each of opium and camphor, one powder to be given every two hours, until at least three are given. Then if the disease seems to be checked, I hold up; but if not, I continue the powders, giving one every time the bowels move, or, in other words, firing every time the enemy does, until he retreats. Nor do I wait the two hours between the powders, if the bowels should move, during the interval, or should a powder be thrown up, but in either case give another immediately. This is the power to be used in the early stages, or mild cases.

When the case has advanced so as to weaken the patient, or seems to be a severe attack, I use 10 grains of calomel instead of 5 to a powder, and give in the same way. For this reason, it is better to have a box of, say a dozen of each kind on hand. For children, from 1 to 3 years old, I divide the last, or large sized powders, into eight or 12 parts, and give them in the same way. Do not be in haste to work off the powders in any case, because the object is to act upon the liver rather than the bowels, and it is better to run the risk of getting a sore mouth than to fail in getting the action of the liver established. If it should be necessary, in from twelve to twenty hours, to give anything to carry off the calomel powders, rheubarb, either in powder or syrup, is the safest remedy. Patients should not be allowed to drink cold water under any circumstances, as it will certainly keep up the vomiting and purging. The drink should be rice water, as a general rule, or a little brandy and water, if it agrees with the stomach, and mutton broth with the rice water is as good nourishment as can be given. Mustard should be used freely in plasters over the stomach; particularly when there is a disposition to vomit, and the extremities, and indeed the whole surface may be rubbed with dry mustard, when there is sweating and coldness of the skin. In all cases when there is much alarm or nervousness upon the part of the patient, I get them drunk as soon as I can on good brandy or whisky. You know a drunken person is always happy, and would just as soon live as die.

In extreme cases, where there really is a collapse state, I have given a powder, every half hour, composed of 20 grains calomel, and 3 grains each of quinine, acetate of lead, and carbonate of ammonia. I will now write a prescription for each of the three kind of powders in the order in which I have mentioned them, and also mention other things necessary to have in the house. Powder No. 1—Rp. Hyd. Submaris, Calomel, 60 grains; Pulv. Opium, 12 grains; Pulv. Camphor, 12 grains; make into 12 powders.

Powder No. 2—Rp. Hyd. Submaris, Calomel, 120 grains; Pul. Opium, 12 grains; Pul. Camphor, 12 grains. Make into 12 powders.

Powder No. 3—Rp. Hyd. Submaris, Calomel, 120 grains; Quinine, 20 grains; Carb. Ammonia, 20 grains; Acet. Lead, 20 grains. Make into 6 powders.

THE SHELBY RAILROAD SUBSCRIPTION DEFEATED.—We need not say that we deeply regret the result of this vote, caused by the supineness of those who should have been interested in so important an enterprise. It apparently exhibits a lack of enterprise and liberality that we do not think belongs to us. The vote was, as we expected it would be, very small, and we doubt not that hundreds who read the result this morning, and who could have easily prevented it by going to the polls, will keenly regret the consequence of their indifference. The question was not properly placed before the people, and the efforts of a few men, which were not discovered until too late to counteract them, were sufficient to get out enough men in the extreme wards, who were frightened by the cry of additional taxes, to vote down the proposition.

This vote will doubtless prevent for many years our connection by rail with Shelby, and we will be fortunate if rivals more enterprising do not step in and take her trade from us.—Lou. Courier.

For the Shelby Sentinel.
From a talented young friend we have received the following congratulations: "I most sincerely congratulate you on the perfect success of the SHELBY SENTINEL. I consider it no longer a matter of doubt, but a permanent success. I am proud to think that our county has a paper once more—a paper that we can own, without blushing—aye, a paper to be proud of. I like the Sentinel, and wish it every possible success. May its cause be upward and onward. I am also much gratified to see that writers of ability are disposed to encourage the Sentinel."

If the wise suggestions of Secretary McCulloch, in his recent letter to a Boston committee, be carried into practical effect by legislature, the further depreciation of government credit and securities will be arrested, and a gradual advance towards a specie standard be secured.—National Intelligencer.

CHOLERA.—Our city is one of the most healthy in the country, for, while the cholera has been raging in almost every other city, we have had little or none of it here, which in a great measure, is owing to the exertions of our Board of Health.—Lou. Democrat.

Appropriations of last Congress amount to $122,005,307 not including Bounties.
